Organising Against Precarity, 22 November, 5pm, LSE Campus

“Organising against precarity” is a collaborative cross-union event, bringing together workers, trade union organisers, students, and activists across higher education and beyond to highlight ongoing grassroots workplace organising efforts against casualisation. In the context of renewed industrial struggle, it is crucial that we recognise the need for rank-and-file organisation within and between workplaces to build the power we need to abolish casualisation. Join us in our anti-casualisation efforts by signing up to the event via the link: <https://bit.ly/46fSE0x>.

There will be a specific focus on sharing methods and experiences of organising amongst different categories of casualised staff, with the aim of building cross-union solidarity. The event will be structured around an interactive panel discussion and workshop, particularly focusing on the struggle of building collective power when people are on short-term contracts, threatened with contract non-renewal, and worried about visas.

The event will feature organisers from LSE UCU, SOAS UCU, Open University, Notes from Below, Goldsmiths, UVW, IWGB.
